UNISON UNEMPLOYED MEMBERSHIP

Members dismissed, made redundant, having accepted a compromise agreement or having resigned as an alternative to dismissal from employment, can apply for unemployed membership of UNISON within six months of their loss of employment, for two years from the date of dismissal, redundancy, agreement or resignation. This entitles them to retain benefits from the union for up to two years after they leave, provided they remain unemployed.

Unemployed members shall be entitled to attend branch meetings and to vote on issues not relating to pay and conditions of members in employment. They are not entitled to hold office in the union unless otherwise decided by the National Executive Council.
